Douglas, Meek Differ on Farm Reaction

Both Appear at National Plowing Matches at Olney

OLNEY, Ill. (CP)—Sen. Paul H. Douglas and his Republican opponent, Joseph T. Meek, appeared at the National Plowing Contest today and differed sharply on whether farmers are happy with lower price supports.

Meek, who seeks Douglas' Senate seat in the November election, was introduced as a guest of honor but made no formal address. However, in a speech prepared for delivery later at Mattoon, Ill., he said:

"The farmers are content to wait and see just how true are the calamity howlings of those who would seek to divide and conquer the farm interests — and socialize them."

Douglas told the farmers that Meek has opposed all price supports and "wants a completely unregulated market for farm products."

Calms Meek Program Selfish

"That is the program of the selfish interests," Douglas said. "They want to nail your hide to your own barn door and then run off with your farm."

Meek said in his prepared text: "There is a growing conviction among farmers that this Benson program is not going to hurt them. With commendable wisdom, farmers are saying 'this man is sincere'."

"They are being rewarded. The farmer is not a part of any bank-rump organization. True, he is not doing quite as well as last year, but his income isn't far off."

"His costs are stabilizing somewhat. He has real hopes now of getting a fair share of our nation's income because he knows fair play is the Eisenhower keynote."

Douglas said that "farmers everywhere have had to tighten their belts."

Says Farm Income Is Down

"You now get $7 where you made $3 two years ago," he told the farmers.

"Your costs are the same so your net income has fallen even more. Your parity ratio in terms of what you get for your products and what you have to pay for manufactured goods is at the lowest point in 13 years."

Douglas said that when the farmer suffers "you hurt business and the whole national economy."

"Now is not the time to pull the rug from under the farmer," he said.

Douglas said the net cost of all farm price supports since 1934 has been $1,100,000,000, or 40 cents per person per year.

"The yearly rate of all aid to farmers including soil conservation is less than one-fourth the subsidies that are given to business," he said.

Expect 75,000 Tomorrow
More than 40 of the best plowmen in the country gathered today to compete in plowing championships at the National Soil Conservation meeting here.

State contests were held today and the national champion will be named Saturday.

A crowd of about 75,000 persons is expected Saturday when Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson will speak.

Deputy U. S. O'Keefe, Westerville, Ohio, won the Future Farmers of America regional speaking contest Thursday.

Second place went to Larry Royer, Assumption, Ill., and third place to Jim Young, Liberty, Mo.

A 17-year-old Illinois youth, Paul Friedrich, of Randolph, was the winner of the contest for young tractor operators, and Larry Prentice, of Teutopolis, Ill., won the individual land judging contest.

The national level land plowing match will begin at 9:30 a. m. Saturday and the national contest plowing contest will start at 11 a. m. The national awards will be made following a speech by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson scheduled for 2:30 p. m.

Graeme Stewart, Plainfield, Ill., farmer who won the national level land title for the past two years, will be chief judge of the level land contest this year. Harry Beason, Sangamon Valley Soil Conservation Service, Decatur, will be in charge of contour plowing judges.

Verbal Support Alone Will Not Help Jaycees Factory Drive

(An Editorial)

The Harrisburg Junior Chamber of Commerce must be doing good work in their factory drive. Everybody approves, it appears from the oral comment the Jaycees are receiving.

"Good job . . . excellent results . . . keep it up," they are told. But words alone will not give much assistance to the handful of young men in their efforts to bring new industry to Harrisburg, and words are all they are receiving from many who have as much or more interest in Harrisburg than the Jaycee members.

From many sources, the Jaycees have received substantial financial contributions toward their efforts. But from others, no such help is forthcoming.

There was much enthusiasm when the Jaycees assisted in bringing the Harrisburg Manufacturing Co. to the Cummins building in Harrisburg, employing more than 100 women.

There was a lot of enthusiasm and considerable financial assistance when they secured the Ellis Trucking Co. terminal for Harrisburg, but the enthusiasm seems to have died in the midst of the efforts to bring the New Method Manufacturing & Engineering factory here.

That project has been started, the building is being erected, the Jaycees have an obligation to fulfill commitments they have made, and they are about $6,000 short.

The boys do not have sufficient manpower for an out and out canvass for financial assistance. They are all employed, many of them by the day or week, and cannot leave their jobs. They are required by some prospective contributors to make call backs, and from some they receive evasive answers.

Some appear to believe the contributions are for the Jaycees as an organization, whereas in fact, the Jaycees are merely acting as the organizing group to handle a responsibility that rests on the shoulders of all who are interested in the economic improvement of Harrisburg. They do not benefit one cent personally.

One Jaycee member this week, discouraged at the turn of events, suggested the group might go back to promoting safety programs, decorating at Christmas and similar activity.

If the factory drive now under way is completed, and if other similar activity is to follow, financial assistance must be had.

Some persons have a philosophy against giving financial assistance to any incoming industry. It is not disputed that most of the businesses in Harrisburg were established through the personal initiative of their owners, but the fact remains that various communities are bidding financially for new industry, and it is apparent that program must be followed, at least in many instances.

Those who have pledged financial assistance will assist the Jaycees if they will mail their contributions without requiring solicitors to call. Those who have considered assisting should make up their minds. Money is needed from any and all who will help.

U. of I. Agrees to Court Test on Building TV Station

SPRINGFIELD (CP)—The University of Illinois has agreed to a court test to determine whether it can use state funds to pay part of the cost of erecting a television station.

Circuit Judge Dewitt S. Crow Thursday granted Evanston restaurant operator Stephen Turkovich permission to file a suit challenging the university's authority to spend state money for the TV station.

Crow issued the order after Ralph Lesemann, the U. of I. lawyer, told him the university wanted "to meet this issue head-on" and get a court ruling interpreting its spending powers.

Turkovich filed his suit with the endorsement of the Illinois Broadcasters Assn., which has opposed U. of I. attempts to start its own TV station. Lesemann called the IBA "the real party of interest" in the suit.

The university has obtained a permit to operate an educational station on Channel 12 at Champaign-Urbana. It has budgeted $24,000 from state funds for 1954-55 toward the cost of getting the station on the air.

The university lawyer said the institution operates Radio Station WILL and never had any special appropriation for that.

Lesemann said the radio station, and the TV facilities, are intended to train Journalism School students and that this is a legitimate and legal purpose for spending U. of I. general appropriations.

French Press Charges 'Snub' By Secretary

France Still Balks at Rearming Of West Germany

LONDON (CP)—U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden agreed today on the need for speedy West German rearmament to plug the holes in Europe's defenses resulting from French rejection of the European army plan.

Dulles, in a hurried, two-day trip designed to help repair the damage done Western defense plans when France killed the European Defense Community, by-passed France to consult with Eden and Prime Minister Winston Churchill here and with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer in Bonn.

France, still sought as a partner in the European defense alliance, fumed that Dulles had deliberately snubbed Premier Pierre Mendes-France. The French premier was understood to have made a bitter protest to the American embassy in Paris.

The French press interpreted Dulles' detour around Paris as a "direct snub," "a blunder," "an unfriendly act" and warned that France could not be expected to approve any formula worked out between Dulles, Adenauer and Churchill on which France "has not been treated on a basis of equality."

Eden, who conferred with French Premier Pierre Mendes-France on proposed alternatives to the European army plan for two days, returned to London Thursday night obviously not pleased with what he had been able to accomplish in Paris.

Italy, West Germany and the Benelux countries had agreed "ad libitum" to Eden's proposal to bring a rearmend West Germany and Italy into the 1948 Brussels alliance and to place themselves under the "umbrella" of the North Atlantic treaty alliance.

The French attitude was not expected to be helped by what the mass circulation newspaper France-Soir called Dulles' "diplomatic affront of the first order to France" in ignoring Premier Mendes-France on his rushed visit to the continent.

"M. Dulles' decision to ignore Premier Mendes-France can only be regarded as an unfriendly gesture," said the influential Le Monde. "This is only one of the blunders which M. Dulles is in the habit of making."

In Paris, U. S. diplomatic sources indicated Dulles may respond to the French criticisms by going to Paris after he returns to Washington.

Dulles brought the latest reappraisal of U. S. foreign policy toward Europe which was worked out after the French National Assembly upset two years of American planning by rejecting the European Defense Community.

It called for quick integration of Western Europe, granting of West German sovereignty "with all speed" and giving West Germany full equality in the European system of collective security.

Soviets Reveal New Series of Atomic Tests

MOSCOW (CP)—The Soviet Union has carried out a new series of successful atomic tests, it was announced officially today.

Disclosure of the tests came in a Tass news agency dispatch printed in the government newspaper Ivestia.

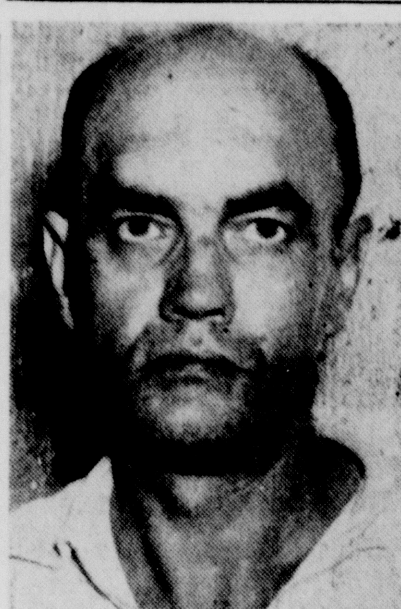

"In accordance with a plan of scientific research work in the past few days," the Tass announcement said, "tests of one of the types of atomic weapons were carried out in the Soviet Union. The aim was to study the effect of atomic explosion."

Visible results were obtained which will help Soviet scientists and engineers solve successfully the tasks of defense against atomic attack."

There was no comment on this latest Soviet announcement from the White House, the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission, or the State or Defense departments.

This was in line with an AEC decision a year ago that it would make no mention of any further Soviet atomic tests unless they were of a special nature.

Up to that time, the Soviet had conducted four or five tests.

ADMITS SLAYING — Elic Morgan, convicted murderer, admitted slaying Night Police Chief James Paulk of West Frankfort.

Special Grand Jury to Hear Murder Evidence

WEST FRANKFORT, Ill. (CP)—A special Franklin county grand jury will convene Oct. 1 to hear evidence against an ex-convict who confessed killing a West Frankfort policeman.

Circuit Judge Caswell J. Crebs Thursday called the special jury session to hear information against Elic Morgan, 42, of East St. Louis. Morgan confessed the fatal shooting of James J. Paulk, 40, after a lie detector test at Springfield Wednesday.

A gun believed to be the murder weapon was found Thursday after Easter led officers to a patch of weeds along Ill. 149 between here and Zeigler where he said he threw the gun Monday night.

The ex-convict, who served a term for robbery, also is accused of the kidnap-robbery of James Paulk, 21, a Benton cab driver. Paulk was shot as he approached the cab which Easter drove to the north city limits here after tying up Dailey.

Law officers from a wide area attended Paulk's funeral here Thursday. Fifty-three city police officers formed an honor guard in the funeral procession and numerous state police and sheriff's officers were present.

Second Infantry Division to Return from Korea

WASHINGTON (CP)—The Army announced today that personnel and equipment of the 44th Infantry Division will be turned over to the 2nd Infantry Division at Fort Lewis, Wash., early next month.

The 2nd Division recently was withdrawn from Korea. An escort group of 1,000 officers and men will return its designation and colors to Fort Lewis where the 44th Division, a National Guard designation, is stationed.

Other personnel of the 2nd Division will remain in the Far East or, if eligible, will be discharged. Colors and designation of the 44th Division will be returned to the control. The division was called to federal service from Illinois but that state has said it does not want the designation returned. What state will get the 44th has not yet been decided.

Ground Breaking Ceremony at New Lake 9 a. m. Monday

Work on clearing the area for Lake Harrisburg is progressing, with one machine now on the job and another expected to start work soon.

James Atchley of St. Elmo is the clearing contractor and a bulldozer was engaged in clearing operations this morning, and has been on the job for the past few days.

The Crossville Tool company had men available getting a new Caterpillar and tree cutting equipment ready to get into operation. The tree cutter will be powered by the Caterpillar.

Work has been completed on a bridge that is in the lake area. A new bridge some twelve feet higher than the old one has been constructed, getting it above the water level. Approximately 1,000 feet of the roadway also must be raised.

J. D. Barter, who has the general contract for the lake construction, expects to have more equipment on the site Monday morning and a ground-breaking ceremony is planned for 9 a. m. next Monday, Sept. 20. The public is invited to be present for the ground breaking ceremony.

Truman Says Eisenhower Needs Democratic Congress; Doctors Limit Campaigning

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (CP)—Former President Harry S. Truman said today President Eisenhower needs a Democratic Congress to save himself from the "misdeeds" of the Republican party.

He called the last Congress the worst in history and said there was never a time in American history when the country needed Democrats at the helm so badly.

Mr. Truman was forced to miss the party's two-day national congressional campaign kickoff here because of health and likewise will be limited to a single campaign speech this fall.

But he sent a "give-'em-hell" letter to Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell.

"President Eisenhower should be secretly wishing for a Democratic Congress," Mr. Truman wrote. "He is pledged to a foreign policy of cooperation with other free nations, but a majority of his party leaders are against it."

Needs Democratic Help

The former president said Mr. Eisenhower needs Democratic help if he wants "the authority and funds for an adequate program of international cooperation and if he is to go down in history as a successful president."

"It behooves the American people, I think, to give Mr. Eisenhower a Democratic Congress and hope that we can save him from the misdeeds of his own party," he wrote.

Mr. Truman said Republicans have shown in the past 20 months their "incapacity" to govern and the GOP is torn by "bickering and internal dissension, incapable of any decisive action except in the matter of giving special favors to special interests."

The tone of his letter was reminiscent of Mr. Truman's 1948 and 1952 campaigns when he castigated the Republicans from stem to stern in a give-them-no-quarter attack.

Mr. Truman recalled he used to call the 80th Congress a "do-nothing" body. But it has been surpassed, he said, by the "do-wrong, give-away" 83rd Congress.

Weaken Communist Fight

"The worst thing the Republicans have done is to weaken the position of the free nations in the fight against Communist imperialism," he said.

He blasted the recent Congress for cutting the armed forces despite "the greatest menace to our safety in all history," for a "rich man's tax bill," for trying to bankrupt farmers, for brow-beating labor, for giving away natural resources "right and left," and for helping bankers and oil tycoons while "quadrupling the business of the bankruptcy courts with small business failures."

Health Prevents Appearance

Mr. Truman said his doctor, wife and daughter "forbid" him from attending the party rally here because of health.

"I am glad to be able to report," he added, "that the progress of my recovery is steady, and it seems to be only a matter of time before I shall be back to normal and able

Remap Would Give Chicago Control: Powell

DECATUR, Ill. (CP)—Rep. Paul Powell (D-Vienna) said Thursday night that reapportionment of the state's districts would turn the House of Representatives over to Cook County politicians for good.

Powell, a bitter foe of reapportionment, debated with Samuel Witter Jr., chairman of the Illinois Committee for Constitutional Revision, before the League of Women Voters here.

The state Democratic organization adopted a platform this week in support of reapportionment and party headquarters has set up a speakers bureau to plug the remap proposal which will be placed before voters on a blue ballot in November.

Witter said downstate citizens "need not fear domination by Cook County representatives because all money bills must be passed by both houses of the Legislature."

He said foes of reapportionment are misrepresenting the facts when they contend that redistributing would rob downstate residents of a portion of the revenue they now receive.

The Chicago attorney said there is something utterly wrong with a system which costs one representative for 39,000 people in one district and one representative for 800,000 people in another.

"This makes three class citizens" out of some people, Witter said.

Powell said Cook County politicians would take over the House and never give it up, even if the population changes.

The downstate Democrat said reapportionment would also add a half million dollars in cost to each session of the Legislature.

"I would rather use motor fuel tax money for farm-to-market roads in the future instead of using the money to build nine-lane highways in the Chicago area," Powell said.

The grounds around the building have been cindered and are very dusty at present. However, the cinders will be covered with rock and oiled, it was stated.

Inside the office is a teletype machine, which connects the Harrisburg terminal with terminals at Memphis, Indianapolis, Anderson and Fort Wayne, Ind., and Bay City, Flint, Pontiac, Lansing, Jackson, Saginaw and Detroit, Mich.

The Ellis Trucking Co. is operating smoothly out of its new terminal on Route 45 in northeast Harrisburg, a visit to the new terminal building revealed today.

All but a few of the employees have moved into this area from Marion, Ky., site of the old terminal, it was announced.

Acts Uncovered By Investigation Of Senate Group

Sen. Capehart Says Evidence Shows Fraud at Chicago

CHICAGO (CP)—A federal grand jury investigation was ordered today into alleged violations uncovered here by a Senate committee investigating Federal Housing Administration scandals.

Asst. U. S. Atty. Chester Emanuelson, who sat in on the three-day hearing which ended Thursday, said he would go before the grand jury next Tuesday.

Emanuelson said he would present to the grand jury 10 cases involving violations under FHA Title 1 home improvement loans.

He said he plans to contact federal authorities at Springfield, Ill., to determine what action will be taken in the case of Maurice Bauman, Champaign, Ill., who told of obtaining loans illegally through "straw men."

Sen. Homer Capehart ((R-Ind.), head of the Senate investigating committee, summed up the three-day hearing by saying that no evidence was uncovered of large scale fraud in government-insured construction loans in the Chicago area.

Amazed by Racketeering

But he said he was amazed by the amount of racketeering in home improvements and remodeling here.

The committee will resume its inquiry Monday at Indianapolis. Capehart said, however, that the committee may return here for further hearings in a few weeks.

The closing session Thursday was highlighted by the arrest of a witness, Luigi (Cockeyed Lewie) Fratto, for questioning about the recent gangland slayings of Charles (Cherry Nose) Gioe and Frank Maritote, alias Frank Diamond.

Fratto later was released on a habeas corpus writ after questioning by detectives.

Aubra B. Johnston, a Better Business Bureau official, accused contractor Harry Nassan of offering him a $1,000 bribe. Nassan admitted offering the money but denied it was intended as a bribe.

Freed After Questioning

Fratto was seized by Chicago homicide detectives after leaving the hearing room in the U. S. Courthouse. He told officers he had known Gioe many years ago but never knew Maritote. Police released him when his attorneys obtained a writ of habeas corpus.

In testimony before the committee, Fratto told of working for Harold Golding at the Complete Home Remodeling Co. in Des Moines but added little to the committee's investigation.

Another witness, Floren di Pagla of Des Moines, who was convicted of bribing a Drake University basketball player, told of connections with the Builders Supply Co. at Des Moines. Under questioning, he said the bribery conviction was a "bum rap" of which he was not guilty.

Capehart issued a subpoena for the appearance in Indianapolis Monday of Maurice Bauman, a Champaign, Ill., mortgage dealer, who told of paying "straw men" to apply for federally insured home mortgages which were used for purposes other than housing.

Eisenhower Needs Demo Congress: Truman

to help the Democratic party whenever and wherever I may be needed."

Though they didn't have Mr. Truman's services for this campaign, Democrats approached it in what Mitchell called an "atmosphere of success."

"All the signs show growing public favor for Democratic congressional candidates," he said. "That's because of the type candidates we have, what they've done. And what the Eisenhower administration has not done."

As for Mr. Truman, Mitchell said the former President will not attend the national campaign kickoff here because he still is recovering from a recent operation. Like-wise, health reasons will cause him to reject many appeals to speak elsewhere in the nation.

The former President's single pre-election speech will be at a Missouri rally Oct. 16 in Kansas City. In addition, he probably will cut records or tapes to plug the Democratic campaign and his daughter, Margaret, may represent him at eastern political meetings, Mitchell said.

Adlai E. Stevenson, the party's 1952 presidential nominee, will highlight this two-day rally, speaking at a $100-a-plate banquet Saturday night. The speech will be televised nationally.

Governor-elect Edmund Muskie of Maine, who won for Democrats in that normally Republican state this week, also will speak during the conference as will Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan, Rep. Sam Rayburn of Texas and numerous other congressmen.

Calls Maine Vote Cheering
Mitchell said the Maine election results "cheered everybody up" but cautioned against overconfidence. Good organization produced the victory, he said, and GOP claims that local issues—not President Eisenhower—were involved are a "smokescreen."

The chairman noted that several states once "cool" to Democratic congressional candidates now are "warming up." Among them he included Illinois, Indiana, South Dakota, Connecticut and New Hampshire with "extreme" warm-ups in Nebraska and Pennsylvania.

Some national committeemen spoke of a 12 per cent drop in Republican votes in Maine. If a percentage close to that holds up across the nation, they said, Democrats should win handily because 40 Republicans won in 1952 by a margin of 5 per cent or less.

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Dulles Omits Quemoy — Red Chinese Speculate; Rep. Yorty Tried To Force Showdown On State Department's Defense Perimeter; Denver Meeting Failed To Clarify Quemoy Issue.

WASHINGTON. — Here is some of the background regarding the hitherto unpublicized, now headlined island of Quemoy, to discuss which the National Security Council journeyed out to Denver.

On August 3, as Communist Chinese troops, withdrawn from Korea and Indo-China, began to mass on the mainland opposite Formosa, Secretary Dulles was asked at a press conference whether the United States would defend Formosa.

He replied in brief that the United States was committed to use air and sea power to defend Formosa and the Pescadores Islands. But he did not mention Quemoy. The Pescadores are immediately adjacent to the island of Formosa, approximately 90 miles from the Red Chinese mainland, and therefore much easier to defend than the Chiang Kai-Shek fortress of Quemoy, only three-and-a-half miles from the mainland.

The fact that Dulles failed to mention Quemoy was immediately noted by the Chinese, also by Congressman Sam Yorty of California, who next day told Congress: "Former Secretary Dean Acheson was severely criticized for omitting South Korea when listing areas of which he considered to be a primary interest to the United States. Mr. Acheson was accused of inviting Red aggressors against South Korea."

"Secretary Dulles," continued the California congressman, "has now seen fit to emphasize that the United States is not committed to defend Quemoy."

QUEMOY QUANDARY
A few days later, August 7, Senator Kuchel of California further highlighted the Quemoy quandary by making a speech at the Republican state convention in California. He said that Yorty, who is running against Kuchel, had made a speech about a "foolish island" with a name he couldn't even spell.

This caused Yorty to put the State Department on the spot by telegraphing Secretary Dulles for a flat answer as to whether the United States would or would not defend Quemoy. The State Department replied that they did not want to discuss the matter in writing, but would confer with the congressmen if he would come to see them.

Meanwhile the Reds seemed in just as much of a quandary as Congressman Yorty as to whether the United States would or would not go to war to protect this "foolish island."

It was this quandary plus some collateral factors which finally led to the Denver meeting. The collateral factors were:

A. A group of U. S. naval and military men are convinced that the United States sooner or later must face a showdown in the Pacific and that it would be better to have a preventive war now than later. This group includes Gen. James Van Fleet, special adviser to Eisenhower, who is so rabid on the subject he talks to almost anyone. To some extent it also includes the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Admiral Radford, who vigorously advocated intervention in Indo-China.

B. A group of Asiatics led by Dr. Syngman Rhee of South Korea, Chiang Kai-Shek, plus the China lobby. This group makes no secret of the fact that they would like to see the United States go to war against Red China.

The situation regarding Quemoy is still fuzzy, despite the Denver meeting, except that it appears the Seventh Fleet will continue to protect the supply line to the Chinese Nationalists on the island; in other words, give what is called "logistic aid." Pentagon officials say the island is well garrisoned, and it will be a long time before the Reds could take it even without U. S. protection.

But Secretary Dulles' omission of Quemoy from the areas for which the Seventh Fleet would fight still remains unchanged—as far as the Reds know. And it would appear that it is in the same category as South Korea prior to June 25, 1950; namely an area which we will not defend but which could conceivably embroil us in war.

INSIDE THE CENSURE COMMITTEE
Most interesting development inside the Senate Censure committee is that Senator McCarthy may not be censured for bawling out Brig. Gen. Ralph Zwicker.

Yet it was his treatment of Zwicker which touched off all the furor. It caused Secretary of the Army Stevens to say he would not let his officers testify before McCarthy and resulted in weeks of televised Senate controversy.

During their secret closed-door hearings, members of the Watkins committee have pretty well decided to rap their Wisconsin colleague on four of the five counts against him. But, on the fifth and final count—mistreating General Zwicker—they feel that Zwicker was evasive and his questions have answered McCarthy's questions in a more forthright manner.

On the other hand, McCarthy will get criticized for two phases of the Zwicker hearings, though the Senate committee has not yet decided whether to put this in their main report or in a side report on the Bush proposals. The latter are a series of recommendations to question witnesses McCarthy permitted Harold Rainville, assistant to Senator Dirksen of Illinois, and Robert Jones, the assistant to Senator Potter of Michigan, to question Zwicker in secret session, which the senators feel was unethical and improper.

CARLSON LEANS
On the first four charges, the Watkins committee is debating backstage whether to recommend to the full Senate the censure of McCarthy, or whether to write a strong report and let the full Senate decide for itself. Some sticklers for form inside the committee are yearning toward the latter.

The committee has set a target date of September 20 for its report to be finished, though it may be ready several days in advance. Note — The Senator who leans most toward McCarthy during backstage committee conferences is Frank Carlson of Kansas, Case of South Dakota, though impartial, is inclined to side with him somewhat at times. Senator Ervin of North Carolina is such a stickler for legal form that he sometimes appears to be helping McCarthy.

Illinois Auxiliary Endorses Legion's Action Against Girl Scout Leaders

CHICAGO. — The Illinois all support of the Girl Scout movement until such time as responsible directors of the Girl Scouts give irrefutable proof to the American public that they have taken definite measures to eliminate stipulated un-American influences from their publications.

The women — 12 of them Girl Scout directors themselves — seconded the Illinois Legion's attack on what it claimed were un-American influences in Girl Scout publications.

"We do not attack any individual Girl Scout member, only the adult leaders who were responsible for re-wording the Girl Scout manual in places where 'one world' took precedence over our flag and our country," Mrs. Omar J. McMackin, Salem, said.

It was the first meeting of the auxiliary since the controversial Girl Scout resolution was passed at the state Legion convention here Aug. 5-8.

Capt. Edgar Bundy, of Wheaton, member of the Legion's National Americanism Commission, told the 16 state auxiliary chairmen and directors that the state resolution had recommended "withdrawal of

It's the big Success today

You can read it in the sales figures—Buick's the car that's climbing to a phenomenal public preference. For Buick today is outselling all other cars in America—regardless of price class—except two of the so-called "low-price three." And every month strengthens Buick's new leadership position. It's the "hot" car for style, for power, for performance—and, most emphatically, for value.

It's the Beautiful Buy right now

Any way you look at it, Buick's the buy of the year, hands down. For Buick prices start close to the lowest—just a few dollars above those of the "low-price three." But those few more dollars you pay for a Buick buy you a lot more power, room, comfort, style, ride steadiness. And get this: with our tremendous sales volume right now, we can offer you a really top allowance on your present car. That's the added bonus you get from our big volume.

It's the "High Resale" car for years from now

No Wonder—Buick Sales are Soaring!

With Buick's year-ahead beauty today, you'll be driving a car that's right up front in the style parade of tomorrow. And when you're ready to resell your Buick, it will still be fresh and new-looking, with the modern features the others will adopt in the coming years. And that means you're bound to get a higher resale price when you do trade it in. Drop in and see this beautiful buy right now.

Miss Izetta Dickerson and Herschel Stricklin Wed at McKinley Baptist

Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Stricklin

Miss Izetta Dickerson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Dickerson, Harrisburg, and Herschel Stricklin, son of Mrs. Nola Stricklin, Harrisburg, were married at the McKinley Avenue Baptist church Sunday afternoon, Sept. 12, at 2 o'clock. The double ring ceremony was performed by the pastor, Rev. J. D. McCarty.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a lovely gown of white lace and nylon net over taffeta. She wore a fingertip veil of illusion and carried a white Bible on which were placed red rosebuds tied with white satin ribbon with lover knots. She also wore a necklace of rhinestones.

Miss Lorraine Dickerson, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. She was dressed in blue and wore in her hair a cluster of red rosebuds.

Evergreen Garden Club Begins Year with 'Coffee'
At Robert Capel Home

The Evergreen Garden club began its new year with a "coffee" at the country home of Mrs. Robert Capel Tuesday morning. The buffet for the coffee was lovely with a huge centerpiece of fruit.

Twenty-five members were present to enjoy the informal get-together and Mrs. Carl Rude, the new program chairman, outlined the program for the coming year: "Small gardens—Yours and Mine" will be the study for the year with a "do it yourself theme" being carried out.

Roll call was answered by "What survived best in my garden during the dry summer." The topic, "How to make cut flowers last longer," was given by Mrs. Louie Gaskins. It was informative and helpful, telling how to condition the different flowers for a lasting flower arrangement.

Plans are being made by the club to hold a fall flower show early in October.

Mrs. Kenneth Capel won the door prize, a potted green arrangement of plants in a reed basket.

Mrs. Paul Endicott and Mrs. Louie Gaskins were the assistant hostesses.

Dorrisville Baptist Bethel Class Elects New Officers

The following were present: Mrs. Sibyl Speaks, Mrs. Pauline Cox, Mrs. Olivia Owens, Mrs. Relia Hull, Mrs. Kathleen Barker, Mrs. Ava Lyons, Mrs. Lavern Cooper, and five visitors, Jack and Joe Lightner, Pat and Danny Coget and Alan Speaks.

ENGAGED — Mr. and Mrs. Vol Rich, Gary, Ind., formerly of Harrisburg, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Joann, to Al Haack, also of Gary. Wedding plans are indefinite.

First Christian Church Missionary Guild Meets

The meeting was conducted by the president, Miss Gladys Caley, and the devotion, entitled "The People in the City," was given by Mrs. Bernice McMahan. Mrs. Clarence Aldridge presented the lesson, "The City."

During the business meeting it was announced that a drive for prospective members was underway.

Refreshments of punch, cookies and ice cream were served to the following: Miss Gladys Caley, Mrs. Alonzo Shewmake Jr., Mrs. Glen Daugherty, Mrs. Bob Kennedy, Mrs. Clarence Aldridge, Mrs. Bernice McMahan, Mrs. Stanley Wilson, Mrs. Joe Harris, Mrs. Cecil Harris, and Mrs. Bill Sloan Jr., and two visitors, Mrs. Vance Brackney and Mrs. Ola Boatright.

Mrs. Aaron Dudley Tells of Need for Trainable Class for Retarded Children

Wednesday evening, Mrs. Aaron Dudley, president of the Saline County Association for Mentally Retarded Children, spoke to the congregation of the First Church of God concerning the great need for a trainable class in Saline county.

In her introduction, she told of her attendance at a state meeting in Peoria, on April 24, where the organization of a trainable class was explained.

Mrs. Dudley advised the group just what this class could accomplish in Saline county. The trainable child can be described as a child who is mentally retarded to such an extent that he will not be able to develop the ability to direct his own life and make his own decisions alone. The responsibility of such a child cannot always be shouldered by his parents. It is the responsibility of each individual to share this burden. No human being is as fundamental in importance as a child. These children will be properly cared for only when parental, educational, health, and welfare groups move cooperatively toward an improved understanding and procedure.

Differences in Opinion

Some of these children need institutional care. Some would, no doubt, be better served in this way. For some it is possible that institutionalization at a later age may be necessary. Parents vary in their feelings and thinking in regard to this problem. It is only natural that other individuals and groups differ. There are children who have been placed in institutions with little justification other than that the parents have so desired or been so advised. Some are merely forsaken children and doomed to a treatment not in keeping with their potentialities. There are children in need of institutional care and are being deprived of it because of insufficient facilities. Many can be provided for in the homes and community if a sympathetic and intelligent tolerance for the child is coupled with a positive plan and procedure.

In 1943, the 63rd General Assembly of Illinois passed the law known as the Special Education Law for Educable Mentally Handicapped Children, which enabled public schools to establish special classes for these children. The law did not provide for another group just below the educable mentally handicapped in their intellectual capacity, and after intensive study, it was found that there were many such children in southern Illinois who needed just such a class.

Program Nov. 14-23

The parents of retarded children in Saline county were contacted, and together they succeeded in organizing a parent group, later named "The Saline County Association for Mentally Retarded Children." This organization began in June and is progressing very favorably. They have joined the Illinois Council for Mentally Retarded Children, have sent in an application for membership in the National Association for Retarded Children, and plan to participate in the National Retarded Children's Week which is to be Nov. 14-23. During this week, NBC has cleared time for a nationwide TV and radio program. Some of the national celebrities who will cooperate on this program will include Joan Crawford, Danny Thomas, Loretta Young, Ozzie and Harriet Nelson, Dale Evans and Roy Rogers, Abbott and Costello, Pat O'Brien, Art Linkletter, Phil Harris, and Alice Faye. The National Broadcasting Company will, in addition to the "big show," develop time on its affiliated stations for presentation of the problem locally, by local personalities.

There is a great financial need to successfully promote this class in Saline county, since the association will be required to provide its own funds. Any donations contributed, whether by group or individually, will be greatly appreciated.

McCarthy Will Not Stump for GOP Candidates

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy said Thursday night he will not stump for GOP candidates this fall and will concentrate instead on his Red inquiries which he said have been stalled by investigations of himself.

The Wisconsin Republican said his time could be better spent "exposing graft, corruption and Communism" which he said the Eisenhower administration "inherited" from the Democrats.

At the same time, McCarthy swung out at his critics—including those in his own party—and took what appeared to be an indirect stab at the administration. McCarthy said in a statement that he would make only three speeches, to which he was already committed, plus some radio and television appearances in the campaign for control of the 84th Congress.

He said he had received "hundreds of requests" to speak for "very able" GOP candidates for the House and Senate. But he said he was forced to choose between them and the "tremendous backlog of work which has piled up in the months I have been immobilized" by the Army-McCarthy and censure investigations this year.

Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell said in Indianapolis that McCarthy will not campaign this fall because "he's the kiss of death."

"It seems to me that the Republicans finally found out that he does the candidates more harm than help," Mitchell said. "He's not welcome any place I know about. . . . He's not campaigning because the candidates don't want him."

Williamson County topped August production with 455,545 tons. Christian County was second with 443,177 tons, followed by Fulton, Franklin and Perry.

Bank Closed, Cashier Arrested

WHITESVILLE, Ky. — The Bank of Whitesville was closed today and townspeople were stunned after a cashier's admission that he accepted bad checks worth $417,000 in the past four years.

Jim Dunn lifted his six-foot three-inch body from the office chair. His wide but sloping shoulders gave him a deceptive air of slenderness. He was deeply tanned, and his gray eyes were sparkling with an added touch of humor.

"I misunderstood," Jim said. "I thought I heard that Kit Carson was calling. I expected buckskins." His smile vanished slowly as his caller sat down, arranged herself comfortably and subjected him to a careful serious scrutiny.

"I believe you will be able to pass," the woman said. "And the name is Mrs. Carlson, not Carson."

"I see. And the passing you mentioned is, I hope, at least into the second grade?"

"Humor, I suppose," she said. "I have been told many times I have no sense of humor."

Jim decided she was actually serious. "Business then. What did you want to see me about?"

"You were recommended to me by the San Francisco Police."

"That would be Steve Johnson?"

He's the only one I know personally there. Captain Steve Johnson?" Jim flicked her a searching glance and added, "Of Homicide."

"Yes."

"How is Captain Johnson? And his charming wife? You know it's an odd thing but Johnson's wife is named Nan. My wife is named Nancy. Odd, isn't it?"

"I did not come here to discuss the private life of a San Francisco policeman. Or yours. I wanted a reasonably honest detective agency here in Denver. I inquired of my local police."

"Fame," Jim said, and let it go at that.

Mrs. Carlson went on. "The job I have in mind may take as long as a month. Two weeks, I would say as a minimum. You will have to go to the mountains with me, stay up there. If that is impossible, please say so now."

Jim thought of his bride of less than a month. He said slowly, "Going is possible, but is your job?"

She frowned. "I've managed to rub your fur the wrong way. I often have that effect on people. However, I am willing to pay well to get what I want."

"Suppose you tell me what you do want?"

"I want protection. And I want you to get something on my mother-in-law."

Jim's eyes opened wide. "That's blunt enough," he admitted. "Do you want to start off by telling me something about your trouble in San Francisco?"

"Trouble?"

"Certainly. Mrs. Carlson, you've said you had no personal interest in Captain Johnson. And, even though you may be quite influential, you don't get the head of Homicide when you phone for a recommendation of a private detective agency. So your contact with Steve Johnson must have been professional."

"You show signs of having a certain crude intelligence."

"Peasant cunning," Jim said.

For the first time Kit Carlson appeared to be having difficulty in putting her thoughts into words.

"Have you heard of the Carlson family of Denver? The J. Oswald Carlsons? The J. Hilton Carlsons?"

"Yes."

"The grandson, J. Peter Carlson, is my husband."

She glanced at her wrist watch, went on quickly. "The Carlson family is a patriarchy. Old Mrs. Oswald Carlson has control of the money and is correspondingly despotic. She rather ignores me, which is all right. But Mrs. Hilton Carlson, my mother-in-law. She's the one."

"A minute," Jim said. "All these Mrs. Carlsons. It's confusing, telling them apart."

"It won't be when you've met them. And, for that matter, they've evoked a simple way of avoiding any confusion. In the family circle at least they're called by their husband's first names, becoming Mrs. Oswald, Mrs. Hilton, and I of course was—am—called Mrs. Kit."

"Why not Mrs. Peter?"

"You might say I am still on probation. I have been married only about a year. We were having our honeymoon when—that happened."

"And your husband?"

"We'll not enter into this at present. His mother is enough to worry about."

"I see. Does that complete the Carlson clan?"

"Heavens, no. Distant relatives by the score. But those are the ones you'll meet. Oh, I'm forgetting Angelica as usual. She's my husband's sister. Not in good standing at present. You see, she married a man named Jones. Without permission."

"Angelica Jones," Jim repeated. "For Jones, she gave up the proud name of Carlson?"

"Yes. I despise her for the way she gave up her husband when Mrs. Oswald ordered. That was the reason the tribe gave for descending on us—on Peter and me—in California. But Angelica had to have a change to forget. I don't know what the deal was, but there was a deal, and Angelica came home. The husband's gone somewhere. But Angelica isn't important. My mother-in-law, Mrs. Hilton. She's the one. I suppose you have knowledge of a camera? Possibly of telescopic lenses?"

"That sort of thing?"

"There is always a young man around my mother-in-law. You'll understand when you see her. Do you have ethics, by any chance?"

"Sometimes," Jim admitted.

"Then you will want to know any evidence you might get on Mrs. Hilton will be used only in a family conference."

"There's one little thing," Jim pointed out. "Just how am I to be explained at this Carlson place?"

"I am—ah—buying a place nearby. Under another name. You are to act as my caretaker. That is what I meant when I said I thought you would pass. In different clothes you could be a caretaker. And you should have no difficulties in establishing friendly relations with the servants on the Carlson estate."

"I see." For the first time he had the impression she was hiding something. "It might be more realistic if the caretaker had a wife."

Mrs. Carlson considered the matter. "If she can look the part. But you would have to leave for the mountains this evening, get the place ready for me, and, if possible, start establishing friendly relations with the Carlson servants. Do I understand you are accepting employment?"

"With one reservation."

"And that is?"

"My talk with Captain Johnson of the San Francisco Police."

She stood up. "Of course. You have a car?"

"A station wagon."

"Splendid. When I send a messenger with your complete instructions of how to reach the place, where to get the keys and so on, I'll send a list of things for you to pick up at a local store."

"When will you be coming up?"

"Probably tomorrow. When my cook arrives from San Francisco by train. She dislikes flying."

"You haven't told me why you want protection."

"I won't need it as long as no one up there knows who I am. We can go into that later. Do I pay you something now?"

Jim decided this was his day for brilliant inspirations. "My secretary, Miss Wister, will handle the financial arrangements. He reached for the communicator switch."

"Wait," Mrs. Carlson snapped. "Did you say Miss Wister?"

"Yes. My secretary."

"Miss Wister. I wondered. You trust her?"

"With my life," Jim said solemnly. He fully expected to get a rise from his prospective client on that one. He did not.

"I mean with important business details?"

"Even," Jim assured her, "with important details." He waited a moment, then Miss Wister said, "Yes?"

"We are taking the job," Jim went on, "with the understanding we're satisfied after completion of a call you will put in to San Francisco. To Captain Steve Johnson."

"What?" Jim really was surprised. "Miss Wister had always been the one to egg him on to accept lucrative jobs."

"She's trouble. I know that family, and they've always meant trouble."

He rubbed his jaw, looked up to find Mrs. Kit Carlson staring down at him.

"She doesn't like me, your Miss Wister." She did not put it as a question, nor with any anger in the simple statement. It was merely something to be expected. "And it was clever of you, Mr. Dunn. She will demand—and get—twice the fee you would have asked. Perhaps you and I will get along." (To Be Continued)

Illinois Prep Grid Snapshots

SPRINGFIELD IP — Snapshots from the Illinois prep football scene:

If Freeport loses to Dubuque, Iowa, tonight, it won't be because the Pretzels were lazy about scouting their out-of-state foes.

Freeport Coach Joe Spudich made a 900-mile roundtrip last week to watch Dubuque lose 7-6 to Sioux Falls, S. D. Dubuque was impressive even in losing, for it was Sioux Falls' 33rd straight win.

Du Quoin will dedicate its football playground between halves of the Du Quoin-Christopher curtain-raiser tonight. It will be named "Van Metre Field," in honor of the late Charles L. Van Metre. A teacher at Du Quoin high school 27 years, Van Metre was known as the "grand old man" of Du Quoin prep athletics.

East Peoria will have to find some sorely missed scoring punch if it is to down Peoria Manual tonight. East Peoria has tallied but 26 points against Manual in their last eight meetings.

This is a year of transition for Mahomet. The Bulldogs will field both six-man and 11-man grid teams. They may shift entirely to 11-man ball next season.

Things look mighty grim to Piper City Coach Art Glad this year. Only 21 boys turned out for football practice, and he had trouble giving his team proper scrimmaging for tonight's opener against Chatsworth. The outlook isn't much better next year — there are only three boys in the school's freshman class this fall.

Woodland, a new school just north of Long Point in Livingston county, will play all of its five scheduled games on the road this year. The school's gridiron won't be ready for play in time.

One of the biggest linemen in the state is a junior at Decatur Lakeview, Elwin Carter, who plays center. Carter's weight is estimated by Coach Harold Petty at more than 300 pounds.

McLeansboro will field a football team this year for the first time since 1929, when the sport was dropped for lack of interest.

A weed mower caused a big dip in the Lexington football prospects. Quarterback Sam Harmon cut his Achilles tendon on the mower and has been lost to the Minutemen for the season. Coach Carl Bird had counted heavily on Harmon.

Only 522 Fans See Dodgers-Reds Game

BROOKLYN IP — The Brooklyn Dodgers' 3-3 loss to Cincinnati Thursday, which may have doomed their pennant hopes, was watched by what is believed to be the smallest crowd in Ebbets Field history. Only 522 fans paid to see the game. However, a crowd estimated at 150,000 cheered the Dodgers Thursday night in an auto cavalcade down the main street of Coney Island.

Eldorado Gridders Who Will Open Season Tonight

Eagles to Seek Opening Win Against Anna

The Eldorado Eagles, coached by Al Adams, Chuck Leonard and Gene Haile, open their 1954 season tonight at Anna. The Wildcats have twelve lettermen on the squad, including four regulars from last year.

Eldorado is short on returning lettermen, but banking heavily on a good crop of juniors who made up a winning freshman-sophomore squad in 1953.

The Eagles will be trying to get back on the opening-of-the-season victory trail, after being stopped last season. Eldorado and Anna have been opening season opponents for many years and Eldorado had rolled to six consecutive victories until stopped, 7-0, in 1953. That marked the first loss of an Adams-coached team to Anna. Probable lineup for Eldorado — Clark, Sutton, Gwaltney and Potts, backfield; Stroke and Lyons, ends; Vogel and Wayne Laffoon, tackles; Lindal Lovellette and Roberts, guards, and Bob Laffoon, center. If the big backfield of Whittier, Vogel, Lovellette and Laffoon start, then the line will have Putnam for Vogel, Lonial Lovellette for his brother Lindal and McClary for Laffoon with the other members of the forward wall unchanged.

Following the Anna game, Eldorado will be east to Metropolis the following Friday, Sept. 24.

Marciano, Charles To Meet Tonight In Delayed Bout

NEW YORK IP — A weather forecast of "fair and cool" indicated that Rocky Marciano and Ezzard Charles will meet finally tonight in their twice-postponed return heavyweight title fight at Yankee Stadium.

Exactly three months from their bout in June, Marciano and Charles are slated to square off at 11 p. m. EDT. On any other night the starting time would have been 10:30 p. m.

The latest start for any professional main event in modern boxing history was necessitated by tonight's conflict with the rival attractions of a Phillies-Grants game at the Polo Grounds and a TV-radio fight at Washington, D. C.

Weather Looks Favorable
For the International Boxing Club the favorable weather forecast was a lucky break, indeed. Rapidly increasing ticket refunds as a result of two rain postponements threatened heavy inroads on the gate. But promoter Jim Norris said, "Fair weather today should produce such a volume of new ticket sales and the gate still may approach $500,000."

Box office men were less enthusiastic. They said they would be satisfied with a $400,000 gate.

Indianapolis, Columbus Chalk Up Second Wins in American Ass'n Playoffs

By United Press
Indianapolis and Columbus chalked up two in the win column today in the American Association playoffs following the Indians' Thursday night 6-3 victory over Minneapolis and the Red Birds' 5-3 decision against Louisville.

The Red Birds and Colonels continue their series at Columbus with a four-game collision tonight with Columbus' Barney Schultz and Louisville's Tom Casagrande slated for mound duty.

Both Indianapolis and Minneapolis are idle today but will resume their series Saturday night at Minneapolis.

Lemon May Clinch Pennant For Indians Tonight; Giants Beat Braves Twice

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press Sports Writer
Cleveland can clinch the American league pennant tonight and Bob Lemon is the man who may do the honors.

The Indians will wrap up the 1954 flag tonight if Lemon beats the Tigers in Detroit and the Athletics upset the Yankees in Philadelphia in another night game.

Even should the Yankees defeat the Athletics, the Indians can guarantee themselves at least a tie for the pennant by whipping Detroit.

Lemon, a 22-game winner who probably will pitch the opening game of the World Series for Cleveland, is a good bet to win tonight since the Tigers are more or less his baseball "cousins." The veteran sinkerball ace has a 22-12 lifetime record against the Bengals and even pitched a no-hit, no-run game against them in 1948. He hasn't lost to them this season but he'll be facing a formidable mound opponent tonight in Ned Garver, seeking his 15th victory.

The five-time champion Yankees, clinging to a last precious mathematical hope, gained a half game on the idle Indians by defeating Detroit, 4-2, Thursday. The victory still left the defending champions eight games off the pace.

Rookie Bob Grim posted his 19th victory by limiting the Tigers to six hits. He was staked to all the runs he needed in the first inning when Yogi Berra slammed his 21st homer off George Zuverink following a walk to Irv Noren and a single by Mickey Mantle.

It was the only game scheduled in the American league.

The Giants took a couple of big strides toward clinching the National league pennant by knocking over the Braves twice by identical 6-2 scores in a doubleheader. By beating the bucking Braves twice while Cincinnati belted Brooklyn, 9-3, in the only other National league game scheduled, the Giants increased their lead to 4 1/2 games over the Dodgers and 7 1/2 over the all-but-eliminated Milwaukee Braves.

Monte Irvin helped earn Ruben Gomez his 16th victory in the opener by driving in four runs with a double, a single and a sacrifice fly. Southpaw Warren Spahn was shelled from the box in the fifth inning. In the nightcap, Dusty Rhodes' sixth-inning single sparked a three-run rally that snapped a 2-all tie and helped knuckleball relief ace Hoyt Wilhelm to his 12th triumph. Wilhelm held Milwaukee hitless over the last 3 1/3 innings, making a total of 9 2/3 consecutive hitless frames he has hurled so far. Willie Mays hit his 40th homer while Eddie Mathews connected for his 37th. Davey Williams and Alvin Dark also homered for the Giants.

Ted Kluszewski of Cincinnati hit his 49th home run and teammates Wally Post and Bobby Adams also hit for the circuit in a 13-hit attack on five Dodger hurlers, beginning with loser Carl Erskine. Joe Nuxhall scattered 10 Dodger hits and became the first opposing left-hander to pitch and win a complete game at Ebbets Field this season.

Guests on the program will include President Lloyd Morey, Athletic Director Douglas R. Mills, Band Director Mark Hindslev, Football Band Director Everett Kissinger, Coach Ray Eliot and football players J. C. Caroline, Capt. Jan Smid, Mickey Bates, Em Lindbeck, Bob Gongola, Abe Woodson, and Hines Stout, Bob Alexander and Chuck Quatock of the Block "I".

Movies of Illinois' 1953 football games, the famous marching football band, and Block "I" stunts will be interspersed with interviews on the show.

Troy-Cartier Middleweight Bout On TV Tonight

WASHINGTON IP — There'll be no home television of the heavyweight championship fight tonight, but dial-twisters can tune in what promises to be a slugfests brawl between two fighters who have designs on the middleweight championship.

Willie Troy of Washington, the sixth-ranked middleweight, and veteran Walter Cartier of New York square off in the telecast 10-rounder at Turner's Arena at 10 p. m. EDT, just one hour before champion Rocky Marciano and challenger Ezzard Charles clash at New York's Yankee Stadium.

Troy is a 22-year old Washington Negro with dynamite in his fists and gold dust in his eyes. He is aiming at a crack at the title of Carl (Bobo) Olson.

For Cartier, ring-wise New York veteran, the fight loomed as a "make or break" scrap. Cartier, who has been fighting since 1945, has neared the heights several times. But his busy fists have never put him in the ring for a title fight.

Reds May Invade Tachen Islands

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP) — Chinese Nationalist sources said today the Communists, frustrated by heavy Nationalist retaliation at Quemoy, may attempt an invasion of the Tachen Islands, 200 miles north-west of here.

Red artillery bombarded an island in the Tachen group Thursday, and Communist warships and patrol planes were sighted in the area today. The Nationalist navy sank one Red vessel in a sea skirmish.

The Communists are reported to have concentrated "large numbers" of Russian-built MIG jets at Nimpo, about 20 minutes by air from the Tachens.

Pope Schedules Audience Despite Renewed Illness

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy (AP) — Pope Pius XII scheduled an audience for late today despite a recurrence of the stomach trouble which sent him to bed for three months last winter.

Vatican sources said that although a Swiss specialist, Dr. Paul Niehans, has been here attending the Pontiff for the past week, there is no reason for serious alarm.

First evidence that the 78-year-old Pope was suffering a relapse of the hiccup which preceded a serious attack of gastritis came during a general audience Thursday.

The Pope, who reportedly looked weak and fatigued, spoke to 7,000 pilgrims from a balcony of his summer palace. He continued for 35 minutes in several different languages. But he interrupted his remarks four times because of hiccuping.

The audience had been postponed from Wednesday, and there were reports that the Pontiff was in a weak condition and might not speak.

However, he appeared on schedule and spoke from the same spot where he planned to address the delegates of a medical congress today.

Colombia Plans To Dig Canal

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — President Gustavo Rojas Pinilla said today the Colombian government plans to dig a canal linking the Atlantic and Pacific oceans during the next four years.

The new canal through western Colombia would link the headwaters of the eastward-flowing Atrato and the westward-flowing San Juan rivers, creating an inter-ocean passage paralleling the Panama Canal.
